DAILY BREAKDOWN

Date
22 November 2025	We'll kick off the day taking inspiration from a range of abstract paintings and artists working with abstraction, and we'll create a series of quick studies to explore compositional decisions and mark making in response to a still life set-up and the interior of the studio. In the afternoon we'll try other 'ways in' to abstract painting and abstraction, playing with collage, and a range of other possible interventions. Throughout the day we'll refer to historical and contemporary artists, looking both at their ideas and techniques.
23 November 2025	Using any of the techniques and ideas explored the previous day, you will work on a more developed abstract painting inspired by an artist or starting point of your choice. This is a chance to expand your individual interest in painting with guidance and encouragement from your tutor.
